STEAMBOAT STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Two Are Injured Perhaps Fatally at Elizabeth Marine Ways

COMES FROM CLEAR SKY

Two men were injured perhaps fatally, four were seriously shocked, and burned and nearly a score were knocked down and bruised when a bolt of lightning from a clear sky struck the steamboat Ironsides, on the marine ways at Elizabeth Monday afternoon. The two men most injured were:

Paul Cochenauer, aged 20, of Elizabeth; clothing torn off, burned seriously about the arms, head and body; suffering from shock; did not recover consciousness until three hours after the accident; is in a serious condition at his home.

Charles Stiddard, aged 27, of Elizabeth; knocked down, unconscious; cut and bruised, burned about head and face; partly recovered and started to walk home; swooned on the way and was carried home unconscious; is in a serious condition.

Louis Heil, aged 20, John Maloney, aged 30, and William Hunter, aged 40, were all seriously burned.

Two hundred men were at work at about 3:30 upon and under the boat, calking her iron bottom when a vivid flash of lightning was seen, followed by a reverberating clap of thunder. The lightning bolt, like a huge tongue of fire, struck the edge of the vessel, and licking down over the side, knocked down the 16 men working underneath, but did not injure anyone on the deck.

NEW YORK'S EAST SIDE PARALLELED BY CHARLEROI CASE

That Charleroi has a parallel of New York's famous East Side was evidenced by charges and counter charges at the police court Monday evening, when two Fallowfield avenue store keepers were before Burgess George W. Risbeck charged with "pullin' 'em in." It was asserted by other merchants along the same street that the two used methods of getting buyers into their stores that would hardly be considered fair.

HELD FOR ASSAULT

Monongahela Colored Men Charged With Attacking Glancy

ONE MAN GIVEN FINE

W. H. Brooks, W. H. Brown and Raymond Brown, the three negroes charged with making a vicious attack upon Conductor M. F. Glancy, of Roscoe, an employe of the Pittsburg Railways company, at Monongahela last Friday evening had hearings Monday evening beforeAlderman R. L. Ellwood. Brooks was shown not to have been a party to the real attack and was let off with a fine of $10 and costs which he paid. The two Browns were held in $1,000 bail each for court, Raymond Brown for felonious assault and battery with intent to kill, and W. H. Brown for being an accomplice.

Nearly a dozen witnesses testified and the testimony of all agreed that the three negroes had been boisterous while riding upon the car and ignored the warning of the conductor. The witnesses stated that when the car stopped at Factory street W. H. Brown engaged Conductor Glancy in conversation while Raymond Brown stepped up behind the railway man and slashed him with a razor inflicting a serious wound about the face and neck. It was testified that the two Browns then turned and ran while brooks walked quietly to his home, it being shown that the latter did not even know Glancy had been injured until he was so informed by the officers.

The two Browns will be taken to jail at Washington.

SNAKE CHARMING NOT MOST REFINED LIFE

Washington Girl Complains She Was Compelled to Handle Slimy Reptiles--Traveled With Snake Show

Compelled to dress in the gaudy clothes of a snake charmer and to handle the slimy reptiles, her arms bearing marks where she had been bitten by them, is the story told by Goldie Denman, aged 16 years, who was in juvenile courtMonday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Denman, of Washington, and was brought from Jeannette Saturday by Constable John McBride. She had disappeared from her home about a year ago, and her whereabouts were not known until last week.

According to her story she has been traveling with what was known as Dan Rogers' snake show. She has been in several towns in Pensylvania and West Virginia, including Uniontown, Fairchance and Morgantown. At all these places it was she who handled all the snakes for the entertainment of the show patrons. She says she wanted several times to leave the show, but every time the manager told her she had signed a contract for a year, and threatened her, it is alleged, if she should leave him. She says she met the man at the Washington fair last fall, and was induced to go with him. This she did, and during the past year her business has been handling snakes.

A charge ofincorrigibility was made against the girl, and Monday Judge Taylor directed that she be committed to the industrial school at Morganza.

TRANSFERRING RAILS DIFFICULT IN GREENE

Railroad Building Across Russia No More Difficult Than Putting Trolley Line Through Southwestern Corner

Railroad building over the tops of lofty mountain peaks or in the frozen wastes of Russia and Siberia has nothing on the difficulties encountered when it comes to putting through a trolley line in Greene county. This was demonstrated when several steel girders were shipped to Washington over the Pennsylvania railroad enroute to Waynesburg thence to be taken to a point near the shiretown of Greene and to be put into a bridge along the new line of the Waynesburg and Blacksville Street Railway company.

When the steel girders reached Washington it was found that they were so long that it would require three cars on the narrow gauge to haul them to Waynesburg. This would make it impossible for a train to round the numerous horseshoe curves on the line.

Finally special narrow gauge trucks were brought out from Pittsburg and placed under the cars which had brought the girders to Washington. The girders will be taken into Greene county in this manner it being probably the first time in the history of the Waynesburg & Washington line that a car of the standard size has been taken over the road.

Before the girders can be taken to the point where the bridge is to be built it will be necessary to construct about 150 yards of railway on which to move them.

NEGLECTED OPPORTUNITIES.

You appreciate the loss of great opportunities neglected. It is very easy to point out to others what the answered knock at the door of life means to the neglectful. But how about yourself? Shakespeare says:

Who seeks, and will not take when once 'tis offered,
Shall never find it more.

Are you reading enough these days? Whether you are 16 or 66, you should read. The value of the well-stocked mind is clearly shown in your conversation, your writing and in the interpretation that you make of other persons' thoughts and actions. You can never read too much. Think of the golden harvest in the silver days, when your memory will be your companion, renewing delightful moments. Prepare for life's winter. Read.

Sometimes one little verse, one forceful sentence, one short story, holds in the depths a life unit. In the gem is "all the wonder and wealth of the mine." Who knows but that a gem is here before you? Seek for the worth-while subject. You will find it. So let no opportunity to read pass you. Look at this page and listen to the experience, the thoughts, the dreams of others. Every moment spent with us will pay you tenfold in the future.

THE MORAL SIDE.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal Company has announced that hereafter it would repair damage done by its mine cave-ins.

Where the company purposes to rob pillars it will notify the surface residents to move out and supply them with a temporary home. When the coal is taken out and the surface has settled the houses that are caused to topple will be set plumb and any damages to the building repaired. Depressions in the lot will be also be filled up. The company also notified the city that it will repair homes damaged by caves.

According to the leases covering most of the home sites the coal companies can take out the last pound of coal without liability for damage to surface properties. The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western is the first to recognize the moral right to the surface owner to be compensated for damages resulting from cave-ins.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

When the Eldora Park management was making arrangements for entertaining the newspaper men of the valley and interior parts of the county at a supper tonight, it was concluded groundhog meat would put a relish to things. Accordingly Roy S. Sharpnack, the assistant manager sent to Greene county for several of the little weather prophets. His instructions were to have them shipped here ready to be put in cold storage.

When the groundhogs arrived Mr. Sharpnack was notified by the railroad people here. He sent up a boy from the park to get them with instructions to take them to North Charleroi to put them on cold storage at the Valley Crystal Ice and Storage company.

The boy came to the baggage room and asked about the groundhogs. Then all excited he ran to a telephone booth, and called up Sharpnack.

"Say, Roy," he yelled, "This baggage man says you'd better get some corn and water for these groundhogs, instead of puttin' them on cold storage."

E. F. Krahmer, the local P. R. R. agent took a guest of the Krahmers, a tot of about six years, to the Palace Theatre Monday night. One of the pictures shown was of Pisa, the famed Italian city. She was wonderfully impressed with the scenes. Particularly did the splendor of the cathedral appear to her. When a picture was shown of the interior of the beautiful old piece of architecture, exhibiting its wonderful grandeur, she could hardly contain herself;

"Oh, isn't that grand!" she exclaimed. "And, oh, Ed., is that as pretty as your office?"

A wedding party was disturbed by the crying of a baby belonging to one of the women guests. One of the young ladies present remarked to the bridesmaid:

"What a nuisance babies are at a wedding!"

"I should say so," returned the latter and added, without very full consideration:

"When I send out the invitations to my wedding I shall have printed in the corner, 'No babies expected.'"

ODD WAYS OF THE COMMONS

Illustrated by the Imminent Peril of Mr. Pearce, Who Read Newspaper During Session.

A member of the British parliament remarks in London Opinion that the rules of the house of commons are past all understanding, and then proceeds to cite the case of Mr. Pearce, M. P., and the imminent danger in which he one day appeared to be. This was when the sergeant-at-arms, with his terrible sword in hand, rose from his chair and rushed with cyclonic speed in the direction of the mild, meek and altogether unconscious offense member. It was quickly made clear what was the cause of this hasty saber charge by the sergeant. Mr. Pearce had actually been reading a newspaper, and there is no more heinous offense known to parliament. The members when in the chamber are not permitted to read newspapers for any purpose not immediately connected with the debate actually in progress, though one may succeed in doing it surreptitiously by folding the newspaper small and concealing it behind the order paper of the day, much like a boy may nibble at an apple in school, concealing the pippin behind his spelling book. Yet more gross breaches of parliamentary etiquette and decorum may be seen, members even wearing their hats when a fellow member is addressing the house, and even the dearest friends of an orator may go to sleep while he is delivering his choicest periods.

Heaven Here.

When I was away for my holiday, I went once to the side of a little highland loch on a calm day, when all the winds were still, and every birch tree stood unmoved, and every twig reflected on the steadfast mirror, into the depths of which heaven's own blue seemed to have found its way. That is what our hearts may be, if we let Christ put his guarding hand round them to keep the storms off, and have him within us for our rest. But the man who does not trust Jesus is like the troubled sea which cannot rest, but goes moaning around half the world, homeless and hungry, rolling and heaving, monotonous and yet changeful, salt and barren, the true emblem of every soul that has not listened to the merciful call: "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." —Doctor Maclaren.

MYSTERY IN THE FRITZ SHOOTING AT CANONSBURG

Considerable mystery surrounds the shooting of Elmer Fritz, a well known resident of Canonsburg and a former ball player, at Canonsburg Monday. Fritz is now in the Washington hospital. His wife is under arrest charged by the young man's father with the shooting. Yet both the injured man and the woman claim that the shooting occurred while he was playing with a revolver.

According to the first story Fritz and his wife had a quarrel about some beer being brought into the house. She secured a revolver, it was stated, and shot him. Now both Fritz and wife state the quarrel was not at their house but at the home of a brother of Fritz, who lived nearby, and who had an argument with his wife. The injured man made a statement which his wife affirms is a true presentation of the facts. He says he was seated at a table on which the revolver was lying. He went to pick up the weapon when it was in some manner discharged.

Fritz is seriously though not necessarily fatally wounded. The bullet lodged in his abdomen. About three years ago, Barney Fritz, a brother of Elmer was shot while he and his brother were examining a revolver. His wound was serious but did not prove fatal.

TO COLLECT FROM MANY DELINQUENTS

County Treasurer Samuel Downer reports that nearly 300 persons against whom mercantile taxes were assessed are delinquent in payment. He has placed the collection of all delinquent taxes in the hands of justices of the peace of Washington county, who will send out constables to each individual taxpayer to give notice of their delinquency, and the delinquents will be obliged to pay, besides the taxes, the justices' and constables' costs. In many instances it is stated, the costs will exceed taxes. Constables who in past years have collected delinquent mercantile taxes, report that in many instances it was impossible to find the person owing it.

Taken to Hospital.

Justice of the Peace E. E. Rice was removed to the Monessen-Charleroi hospital at North Charleroi this morning suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Interested in American System.

While visiting Vienna recently, the ex-shah of Persia, Mahomet Ali, devoted much time to the inspection of great business and manufacturing establishments, and on one of these tours, made under the guidance of a large manufacturer, and with little Prince Mahomet Mirza, they were joined at the office of a newspaper by an American with whom the ex-monarch entered into earnest conversation. He was deeply interested in what the American told him about commercial affairs in the United States, but what interested him most, said one of the party, was "our election system, as to which he made searching inquiry."

Like a Dream to Her.

Margaret Andoux, the Paris dressmaker, whose book has attracted the attention of great scholars all over the world, worked at her trade for the sum of 40 cents a day. She left the country and went to Paris with but a few cents in her pocket, and considered herself lucky to have arrived at the dignity of something over half a dollar a day wage. Her book, "Marie Claire," made her several thousand dollars, and now the poor dressmaker may rest from her labors for awhile.

For Poor Actresses.

Baronne Koenigwater of Frankfort, formerly a distinguished actress of Vienna, has just set aside a fund of $8,000, the income of which is to provide poor actresses with necessary stage clothes, the lack of which often hinders their career. Other people are being asked to join in this work.

She Was Not Surprised.

"Weren't you sorry when you heard that Tolstoi was dead?" asked Mrs. Oldcastle. "Yes," replied her hostess, as she pushed a $900 bracelet up on her left arm, "but it was not at all surprisin'. Folks that go up in them things are always sure to get a fall sooner or later."

The Model Hired Girl.

The following testimonial was given to a servant girl: "This is to certify that the bearer has been in my service one year less 11 months. During this time I found her to be diligent at the back door, temperate at her work, prompt at excuses, amiable toward young men, faithful to her sweethearts and honest when everything was safe under lock and key."

BARS OUT RUSSIAN GEESE

Germany's Blow to a Great Trade Seriously Felt on Both Sides of Border.

Announcement has been made that the German authorities have suspended the importation of live geese from Russia on the ground that there is a considerable amount of disease prevalent in the frontier districts of that country.

Coming, as this prohibition does, immediately prior to the period when imports of live geese increase rapidly the question is serious alike to breeders in Russia, who will have large quantities of birds thrown on their hands; to German goose fatteners, as they will be unable to fill up their pens, for the home production is totally insufficient to meet their requirements, and to housewives in Germany, who will find the already high price of what is an important article of food advance still further and probably be prohibitive. Russians state that there is no justification for this regulation, that it is a trade move in the interests of German dealers to force down prices and as a measure of fiscal protection to German breeders.

Germany imports annually about 8,000,000 live geese of which seven-eights come from Russia, where these birds are bred in vast numbers throughout the western and southwestern governments. They are bought from the raisers by traveling dealers, who drive them in huge flocks to the frontier stations, where they are entrained for despatch to Berlin and other cities.

The cars used for this purpose are built in four decks, each car holding about 1,200 birds. Special trains are run in the season, consisting of a dozen to thirty-five cars, in accordance with the supply. As many as 50,000 geese have been known to arrive at Magerviehhof market, Berlin, on a single day.—Westminster Gazette.

Tree Made Lot Valuable.

"Not long ago," says Fred A. Manchester, one of Cleveland's best known real estate men, "I had an assignment to sell a certain number of lots in a new Cleveland allotment.

"In this allotment there was exactly one tree. The lots ranged in price from $250 to $400, but for the lot on which was located this particular tree the price was $500. And do you know that this one little tree made this one little lot more valuable by far than any of the rest? Folks would hesitate about paying $250 for a pretty little lot on a side street, but nobody objected when asked to pay $500 for this lot away out of the ordinary run of travel, simply because there was a big shade tree in the back yard."—Cleveland Leader.

Pleasant Praise.

A local painter spent three months on a painting. He spent a good deal of money on models, but the finished product justified all his expenditures and all his time. Everybody told him so, when his picture was exhibited. Everybody but one. The lady whose opinion he valued most was the one he took to the exhibition with him. "I can hardly wait," she bubbled. "Which is your picture?" "This one," he told her—and waited. She studied it critically. "What is it called?" she wanted to know. "'Wood Nymphs.'" "How silly of me to ask! They're so natural. Why, anybody would think they were really made of wood!"—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

Foxes Made Bold by Hunger.

Foxes seem to be unusually plentiful in the Blackmore vale this year and several instances of their remarkable boldness have occurred of late. A few days ago Reynard had the hardihood actually to pay a visit to the kennels at Charlton Horethorne, a village in a sheltered valley, in broad daylight, between the Sherborne and Wincanton, and carry off a much prized cock belonging to the huntsman. Apparently the marauder had been lying up in a hedgerow close to the poultry yard and his tracks were easily traced in the muddy lane by which he safely beat his retreat with his capture.—London Standard.

Maine Nature Fakers.

Maine is a great state for "nature fakers." The Kennebec Journal puts out the following: "Obed F. Stackpole of Biddeford discovered on entering his henhouse a few mornings ago that a fine black hen of his flock had committed suicide. He found the hen hanging suspended by her neck, and her head slipped through a loop in a cord, which was attached overhead in the center of the coop. The cord which figured in the event was one by means of which Mr. Stackpole had previously suspended a cabbage just above the floor and a small loop was left in the end to which the stump of the cabbage had been fastened."

An Ancient Bet.

Near the ancient country seat of the Carews in Cornwall, England, stands a quaint old church, to the door of which are nailed four horse shoes. These have been in their present position for nearly 500 years. A former member of the Carew family made a wager with a friend that he would ride his horse a mile out to sea in Tor bay and back again. The fact was more difficult than appears at first sight, for the cross-currents are dangerous, even for boats.

He won the bet, however, and nailed the four horse shoes of his steed to the church door to commemorate the performance.

FIVE DAYS OF CLASSY RACING

Grand Circuit Trotters and Pacers Coming to Pittsburgh

WORLD'S BEST ARE ENTERED

Pittsburgh Driving Club Revives Harness Racing With a Great Program. Meet Begins on Monday, Aug. 5, and Ends on Friday, Aug. 9—Big Purses Offered and Famous Drivers Will Compete.

For the first time in nearly twenty years lovers of harness racing in Pittsburgh and vicinity will have an opportunity to see the world's greatest trotters and pacers in action without leaving home. Back in the old days when Homewood park was in existence, Pittsburgh was one of the greatest racing cities of the country and gave annual meetings that were unsurpassed. But since the last meeting at Homewood, which was held in 1892, followers of the great American sport of harness racing have been forced to journey to other states to see the leading horses perform. This year Pittsburgh returns to the Grand Circuit with five days of racing beginning on Monday, Aug. 5, and to celebrate per return is offering one of the greatest racing programs ever given by a racing association.

Realizing that in order to give a successful meeting in Pittsburgh it will be necessary to offer inducements to owners and trainers to enter their horses, the Pittsburgh Driving club outlined at the start the most liberal racing card of the season and the support given the meeting surpassed the expectations of the most enthusiastic member of the club and assured the greatest week of racing of the season.

Unlike the majority of the racing associations, the Pittsburgh club has decided to make Monday the opening day, one of the most attractive, if not the very best day of the week. Five races are slated for that day, the real feature being the $10,000 Matron stake for three-year-old trotters, a race that will bring together for the first time this season all the crack three-year-old trotters of the country. Judging from the reports being received from the various training grounds, the three-year-old trotters are showing phenomenal speed and it is the general opinion that 1912 will bring forth more high-class colt trotters than any previous year in the history of the turf. The Matron stake will witness the first test of their racing ability and it would not surprise horsemen to see the world's record for three-year-olds in a race go glimmering when the colts meet in this event. This race being of national importance, it will bring to Pittsburgh every prominent breeder and owner in the country, the majority being represented by one or more colts in the list now eligible.

In addition to the Matron stake the card for the opening day includes two preliminary races of the Professional Drivers' stake for 2:15 trotters, to which race nearly sixty trotters are eligible. Every stake trotter in the country eligible to the 2:15 trot has been kept good in this stake and the purse will be, next to the Matron, the richest of the meeting. It is the consensus of opinion that the preliminaries and the final of this stake will develop into the greatest series of races ever trotted, for in addition to the money to be divided among the winning horses there will be a surplus for the winning drivers and that means that every man will be out with "blood in his eye" fighting for the money. With the 2:05 pace, one of the fastest classes of the meeting, and the 2:22 trot, which will bring out the best of the slower class trotters, the opening day at Pittsburgh will produce one of the greatest days of sport ever offered lovers of harness racing.

The card for Tuesday, Aug. 6, has for its feature the Fort Pitt, 2:13 pace, the classic pacing race of the meeting. In this event will start all the best stake pacers of the season and should develop into one of the greatest fought battles of the year. In this race all the pacers that start for the old established C. of C. stake at Detroit are entered and will meet for the first time the faster of the stake pacers from the east.

Another feature of the day is the Preparation stake for two-year-old trotters, a race that has developed into one of the most interesting of the meeting, owing to the number of sensationally fast colt trotters that have appeared to date. In this race at least two babies owned by local horsemen will start and judging by their work to date they will be among the leaders. To complete the card there is a 2:08 trot, the fastest of the class races offered, and a 2:12 pace.

The card for Wednesday, Aug. 7, includes the richest stake of the meeting for aged trotters, the Pennsylvania 2:10 trot, $5,000. Thirty-two horses are still eligible to start, and unquestionably the field will be one of the largest that ever battled for so rich a purse. Every great trotter in the country is entered, every great driver has one or more in the race, and if the contest is not one of the greatest ever witnessed on a race track then the officials of the club will be extremely disappointed. Another stake programmed for that day which should produce a sterling contest is the Iron City 2:07 pace, in which the fastest of the stake pacers are named, no less than twenty-five horses having been entered. In this race it is expected that the horses will have to pace mile-not far from two minutes in order to win. The pacing division of the Matron stake and a class for 2:16 trotters completes that day's racing.

Thursday, which is usually counted on as the "big day" of a race meeting, but which at Pittsburgh is but one of the five big days, has two features that would make any day's racing worth a journey of miles to see. The first is the final of the Professional Drivers' stake, in which the leading reinsmen will meet to battle for the first stake ever offered in which they have a chance to increase their own earning capacity. The second is the Trotting championship, a $2,500 stake for free-for-all trotters, a race in which is named every trotter in the country with a record below 2:07 that will be raced in 1912. In this race will meet for the first time two aspirants for the championship stallion crown, Billy Burke, 2:03¾, and Colorado E., 2:04¼, and even if but these two horses face the starter it would be one of the greatest races ever trotted and there is a chance that in this race the world's record for racing stallions will be set at a new mark. But in addition there are named such horses as Anvil, 2:06½; Dudie Archdale, 2:06¼, both in the stable of Ed. Geers; Hallworthy, 2:05¼; Brace Girdle, 2:05¼; R. T. C., 2:06¾; Gold Dollar 2:06¼, and others, unquestionably the greatest field of trotters ever entered in one race. To complete Thursday's program there is a 2:09 pace and a 2:12 trot.

Friday, Aug. 9, the last day of the meeting, has for its feature the Pacing championship, a free-for-all pace in which is entered the greatest muster of peerless pacers on the continent. There are no less than fourteen entries, including Ross K., 2:01½; Evelyn W., 2:01¾; Independence Boy, 2:01½; Vernon McKinney, 2:02; The Bel, 2:02¼; Don Delmore, 2:03¼; Sir R., 2:03½; Major Mallow, 2:03¾; Hal B., Jr., 2:03; Merry Widow, 2:03¾, etc. The clip these pacers will set means that all race records for pacers will be beaten. Three other races will be decided on Friday.

VERNON M'KINNEY, 2:02.

The favorite for the Free-for-all Pace.

Comparing the program with that offered by other Grand Circuit associations shows that Pittsburgh's effort to promote a meeting has been done on a plane of which the city may be proud. No other track in the circuit has offered so much money for a meeting of one week and horsemen have shown their appreciation by giving the meeting the greatest list of entries of the season. Pittsburgh is on the racing map to stay.

The complete program for the week is as follows:

Monday, Aug. 5.—2:22 Trot, 3 in 5, $1,000; Professional Drivers' stake, 2:15 trot, preliminary, 2 in 3, $5,000; Professional Drivers' stake, 2:15 trot, preliminary, 2 in 3, $5,000; the Matron stake, trotting division, 3-year-olds, 2 in 3, $10,000; 2:05 Pace, 2 in 3, $1,200.

Tuesday, Aug. 6—8:12 Pace, 3 in 5, $1,000; the Fort Pitt, 2:13 pace, 3 in 5, $2,500, the Preparation, 2-year-olds, 2 in 3, $2,000; 2:08 trot, 2 in 3, $1,200.

Wednesday, Aug. 7—2:16 Trot, 3 in 5, $1,000; the Pennsylvania, 2:10 trot, 3 in 5, $5,000, the Iron City, 2:07 pace, 2 in 3, $2,500; the Matron stake, pacing division, 3-year-olds, 2 in 3, $2,500.

Thursday, Aug. 8—2:09 Pace, 3 in 5, $1,000; Professional Drivers' stake, 2:15 trot, final, 2 in 3, $5,000; the Trotting Championship, free-for-all trot, 2 in 3, $2,500; 2:12 Trot, 3 in 5, $1,000.

Friday, Aug. 9—2:18 Trot, 3 in 5, $1,000; the Pacing Championship, free-for-all pace, 2 in 3, $2,000; 2:15 Pace, 3 in 5, $1,000; 2:20 Pace, 3 in 5, $1,000.

TO PROTECT WATER BUCKETS

Stable Boys Bore Holes in Their Bottoms and Carry Corks in Their Pockets.

"Anybody who has occasion to use a water bucket," said a man acquainted with their various uses, "is likely to pick up the first one he comes to, then he may put it back where he found it or he may not.

"It was to prevent their being carried off in this way and left around where they didn't belong that fire buckets came to be made with round bottoms, so that they wouldn't stand on their own bottom. Such buckets, as you know, are kept filled with water and standing around in buildings, supported in holders having rounded out spaces in which the buckets rest. These buckets are likely to be left where they belong.

"A man who doesn't know their peculiarity may come along some day and pick up one of them and carry it off, but he is likely to leave the fire buckets alone after one experience of seeing the bucket he has carried off roll over when he set it down and spill out all the water.

"Perhaps you don't know what stable boys do to keep their buckets where they can find them. The stable boy protects his particular bucket by boring a hole in its bottom, so that it won't hold water; nobody wants a bucket that won't hold water. Then he carries in his pocket a cork that will fit the hole in the bucket, and when he has use for it he simply plugs the hole, and there's the bucket ready for use.

"To be sure other boys around a stable may carry corks in their pockets, but the run of people don't; and so the boy who has bored the bottom of his bucket is at least a little more likely to find it when he wants it than he would be if it had no hole in it."

CIGAR SMOKING IN GERMANY

Business Is Increasing as Kaiser's Subjects Realize Pipe Is Unhandy to Carry.

Mr. A. von Reiger, president of the town council of Dresden, Germany, who is at the Ebbitt, is also a manufacturer of cigars.

"The cigar business in Germany is on the increase," said he. "In my factory if I do not turn out 250,000 a day I consider business very poor. Germans, long famed for their variety and quality of pipes, are taking to cigars. In former days a German was always pictured with a stein of beer and a big curved-stemmed pipe. Now the cigar has taken the latter's place.

"The main reason for the change is the fact that pipes are unhandy to carry around. They take up a lot of space in one's pocket, and a packet of tobacco takes up some more. Germans are outdoor people, and the cigarette is too mild for them. A man who is in the open all the time likes a strong smoke, and the more he is out of doors the stronger he wants it. Cigars can be carried easily, and they give even more satisfaction than the pipe. Hence the change.

"My," he continued, "but your American prices are high! No wonder a man is not considered rich unless he is the possessor of $1,000,000. Why, in Germany if a man has 1,000,000 marks, which is something more than $200,000 in American money, he is considered phenomenally rich. It is a shame we can't ship foodstuffs across the ocean to you without paying duty."—Washington Post.

Best He Could Do.

When Ralph Delmore, who was assisting in staging "The Confession," was giving instructions one day to the actors as to what they should wear during the snow storm in the first act, he said: "I want every one to wear their heaviest overcoats during this scene, as it is supposed to be the coldest night in twenty years. Now, don't forget this." Mr. Delmore repeated this order several times to impress it on the minds of the actors, when one of them, undoubtedly new to the stage and who had no lines at all to speak, approached him. "I have no overcoat, Mr. Delmore, but suppose I wear my heavy flannel underwear?"—Kansas City Star.

Superior Paper.

As illustrating the excellence of the paper (which is made from unused linen scraps) upon which Bank of England notes are printed, it is stated that when one of these notes is twisted into a rope it will sustain a weight of 363 pounds.

Sermon by the Deacon.

"Girls whose grandmothers used to get outdoors and boil a big iron kettle full of maple syrup or soft soap," says Deacon Palmer, "think they are doing something when they can roast a marshmallow in a chafing dish."—Atlanta Constitution.

Sculptor Receives Decoration.

Albert Jaegers, the sculptor of the Baron von Steuben statue, which was recently presented by the United States to Germany, has been decorated with the Order of the Eagle, fourth class, in recognition of his merit. He was born in Elberfield, Germany, in 1868, obtaining his education in the public schools. Without wealth or influential friends he worked away in the face of many discouraging features, until, self-taught in art, he arrived at the point where his creations commanded recognition. He came to this country several years ago to make his home, and he has an attractive place at Suffern, New York.

TAME GULLS OF SHETLAND

Each Family in Lerwick Has Its Own Flock Which the Children Feed.

There are many small villages in the world that have only one street; but Lerwick, in Shetland, besides having only a single street possesses only one tree, and it is not a very tall one either. There are no land birds there, not even a sparrow; but the sea gulls are plentiful.

The inhabitants of Shetland are very proud of their tree and very kind to the gulls, of whom the children make pets. Children who are brought for the first time to see the wonders of one-streeted Lerwick are always shown, as a great curiosity, "the only tree in Shetland."

The sea gulls are the sparrows of Lerwick; and as such they have a greater share in the town's life than the sparrows of London. In the morning you will note that a sea gull sits on every chimney pot. Sea gulls swoop and hover over every roof in town. The air is full of their strange, high, plaintive, haunting cries.

Every house has its own familiar sea gulls and every street its own band of them. But, according to the Fruit Magazine, they never mix. The children in each house have a pet name for their own particular sea gulls; and, having called them by those names, they feed them every day.

Each sea gull knows what is meant for him. No bird attached to one house ever seeks to eat the food scattered from the house next door. He does not dare to do so. So all day long the sea gulls hover and call over the roofs of Lerwick.

The people of the town if they come across a little pile of rice laid upon the roadway step over it with care. They know that it has been placed there for some sea gull. And at night the sea gulls leave their a pointed chimney-pots and fly gracefully away to their resting places on the rocks of the Isle of Noss.

More Light.

Fresh air enthusiasts are familiar enough to most of us, but we hear less of enthusiasm for light. Darkened parlors, darkened bedrooms, darkened sickrooms, are too common. Sir B. W. Richardson, the eminent London scientist and physician, declared that when the professors of healing enter a sickroom their first words in most cases ought to be Goethe's dying exclamation, "More light! More light!" The light of the sun is God's own microbe killer, germicide, disinfectant, prophylactic, sickness healer. There is no physician, no chemical antidote, no compounded prescription to be compared with sunlight. Without it nature could not perform her functions. Man, beast, bird, insect would fall victims to the deadly gases that would prevail. The horrid mists and deadly gases are dispersed and decomposed by the action of light. Let it in, everywhere! Let the light in more and more abundantly. Faded carpets are not as pitiful as faded cheeks. Spoiled cushions are trivial compared with spoiled health. Darkened rooms are too suggestive of darkened lives.—The Christian Herald.

Real Angel of Death.

Most of us are familiar with the beautiful and artistic conception of French, wherein a young sculptor who is plying his magic chisel upon a block of stone and summoning from the snowy depths of the marble the dream face of his soul's idea, is gently touched by the wistful-eyed Angel of Death and the skillful arm forever stayed. The whole creation is marvelously beautiful and the world is better for its birth. Nevertheless, it is allegorical and misleading.

The real Angel of Death in the case of the thin-faced sculptor was not a sad-visaged maiden of classical profile in all probability it was a minute, rod-like organism floating amid motes of dust and known to scientists as the "bacteria tuberculosis." The writer does not want to be a shatterer of ideals, but the sooner such poetic notions of death are done away with and the mass of the people educated in a common sense way to the dangers of dust and bacteria, the better it will be for humanity in general.—J. G. Ogden in October Popular Mechanics.

Truth in a Nutshell.

As Puck said, "What fools these mortals be!" If there were no fools there would be no rogues, just as if there was no filth there would be no flies, and if there were no swamps there would be no mosquitoes.

Easily Worked.

Crawford—The rich seem to have trouble in dodging the duty on things they bring over. Crabshaw—Why don't they engage the same lawyers who show them how to dodge their taxes?—Puck.

Girl Student Wins Competition.

Miss Louise Stanwood, a special student in Radcliffe college, has won in the play competition of the Harvard Dramatic club. Miss Stanwood's play, "The Progress of Mrs. Alexander," has been accepted by the club and will be presented in December. The competition was open to both Harvard and Radcliffe students. The Emmanuel Society of Radcliffe gave three representations of "Cyrano de Bergerac" last month for the benefit of the scholarship fund. Each year this society raises the money for one tuition and something toward a permanent scholarship fund. There is still lacking $5,000 to make up the permanent fund.

You know my faith in it."

Eckman's Alterative is effective in other forms. Read what Mrs. Garvin says:—

The Wind and the Weather.

Weather depends on the direction and movement of wind. Warmth comes from the sun, but wind is the distributer of the warmth. Visiting any place that is warmer than itself, wind always takes some of the warmth away with it. Visiting any place that is colder than itself, wind warms that place. This implies, of course, that wind moves. But what makes it move? It moves by its own weight. Wind is simply drifting air, and the drift is caused by the very same power which draws a falling stone toward the earth.

POWDER FLASHES CAUSES BLINDNESS

O. C. Kough, a photographer of Uniontown, will lose the sight of both eyes as the result of a blinding flash in the face as he was about to take a flashlight photograph of the local lodge of Order of Lions in Rutter Hall Monday night. When the members had posed Kough pressed the bulb, but there was no flash. He walked to the pan of flash powder and looked into it, when there was a sudden flash of powder in his face.

PRESBYS NOW IN SECOND

Lost to Episcopals and Leave Catholics in First Place

HARD HITTING FEATURE

Through the instrumentality of nine sluggers doing their derndest under the banner of Episcopal, the First Presbyterians dropped to second place Monday night, leaving the Catholics in full and complete possession of the much coveted first position. The score when "finis" was declared was 5 to 1. Osborne undertook to fool the Episcopals but McCloskey's lads stoutly and persistently refused to be fooled. Katsy Keifer who pulled off a startling performance last week by pitching a no-hit game started the game for the Episcopals, but retired from the mound after a time to practice up on third base a bit and let W. Cratty be the center of agitation. Between Katsy and the said W. C. they made a good job of it. Six hits was the number the other side got.

In the first place the Episcopals played errorless ball. It took four hits for the First Presbyterians to score one and their only run in the first. In the second place they hit like men who prophesied Taft's nomination before the convention—consistently and often. One run was scored in the first inning on 2 hits, one in the third on the same number and three in the fifth on four bingles. Score:

EXEMPLIFICATIONS OF RECORD IN TWO CASES ARE RECEIVED

The exemplifications of record have been received from the prothonotary of the superior court in the two cases recently decided by the appellate court.

As to the suit of Conrad Hilt against Catherine Hilt, the latter now being deceased, the higher court reversed the lower court and directed that the judgment be entered in favor of the defendant.

The record in the Borough of California vs. Powell estate has also been received. This suit was affirmed and involved the question of the right of the borough to collect for certain paving on Third street, California, and the lower court found for the defendant. It was found the borough in paving under the two-thirds plan, had not complied fully with the act of assembly. Other suits depended on the outcome of this action.

STEAMBOAT STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Two Are Injured Perhaps Fatally at Elizabeth Marine Ways

COMES FROM CLEAR SKY

Two men were injured perhaps fatally, four were seriously shocked, and burned and nearly a score were knocked down and bruised when a bolt of lightning from a clear sky struck the steamboat Ironsides, on the marine ways at Elizabeth Monday afternoon. The two men most injured were:

Paul Cochenauer, aged 20, of Elizabeth; clothing torn off, burned seriously about the arms, head and body; suffering from shock; did not recover consciousness until three hours after the accident; is in a serious condition at his home.

Charles Stiddard, aged 27, of Elizabeth; knocked down, unconscious; cut and bruised, burned about head and face; partly recovered and started to walk home; swooned on the way and was carried home unconscious; is in a serious condition

Louis Heil, aged 20, John Maloney, aged 30, and William Hunter, aged 40, were all seriously burned.

Two hundred men were at work at about 3:30 upon and under the boat, calking her iron bottom when a vivid flash of lightning was seen, followed by a reverberating clap of thunder. The lightning bolt, like a huge tongue of fire, struck the edge of the vessel, and licking down over the side, knocked down the 16 men working underneath, but did not injure anyone on the deck.

NEW YORK'S EAST SIDE PARALLELED BY CHARLEROI CASE

That Charleroi has a parallel of New York's famous East Side was evidenced by charges and counter charges at the police court Monday evening, when two Fallowfield avenue store keepers were before Burgess George W. Risbeck charged with "pullin' 'em in" It was asserted by other merchants along the same street that the two used methods of getting buyers into their stores that would hardly be considered fair.

HELD FOR ASSAULT

Monongahela Colored Men Charged With Attacking Glancy

ONE MAN GIVEN FINE

W H Brooks. W H Brown and Raymond Brown, the three negroes charged with making a vicious attack upon Conductor M F. Glancy, of Roscoe, an employe of the Pittsburg Railways company, at Monongahela last Friday evening had hearings Monday evening beforeAlderman R. L Ellwood. Brooks was shown not to have been a party to the real attack and was let off with a fine of $10 and costs which he paid. The two Browns were held in $1,000 bail each for court, Raymond Brown for felonious assault and battery with intent to kill, and W. H. Brown for being an accomplice.

Nearly a dozen witnesses testified and the testimony of all agreed that the three negroes had been boisterous while riding upon the car and ignored the warning of the conductor The witnesses stated that when the car stopped at Factory street W. H Brown engaged Conductor Glancy in conversation while Raymond Brown stepped up behind the railway man and slashed him with a razor inflicting a serious wound about the face and neck It was testified that the two Browns then turned and ran while brooks walked quietly to his home, it being shown that the latter did not even know Glancy had been injured until he was so informed by the officers.

The two Browns will be taken to jail at Washington.

SNAKE CHARMING NOT MOST REFINED LIFE

Compelled to dress in the gaudy clothes of a snake charmer and to handle the slimy reptiles, her arms bearing marks where she had been bitten by them, is the story told by Goldie Denman, aged 16 years, who was in juvenile court Monday She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Denman, of Washington, and was brought from Jeannette Saturday by Constable John McBride. She had disappeared from her home about a year ago, and her whereabouts were not known until last week.

According to her story she has been traveling with what was known as Dan Rogers' snake show. She has been in several towns in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, including Uniontown, Fairchance and Morgantown. At all these places it was she who handled all the snakes for the entertainment of the show patrons. She says she wanted several times to leave the show, but every time the manager told her she had signed a contract for a year, and threatened her. it is alleged, if she should leave [illegible] Washington fair last fall, and was induced to go with him. This she did, and during the past year her business has been handling snakes

A charge ofincorrigibility was made against the girl. and Monday Judge Taylor directed that she be committed to the industrial school at Morganza.

TRANSFERRING RAILS DIFFICULT IN GREENE

Railroad Building Across Russia No More Difficult Than Putting Trolley Line Through Southwestern Corner

Railroad building over the tops of lofty mountain peaks or in the frozen wastes of Russia and Siberia has nothing on the difficulties encountered when it comes to putting through a trolley line in Greene county This was demonstrated when several steel girders were shipped to Washington over the Pennsylvania railroad enroute to Waynesburg thence to be taken to a point near the shiretown of Greene and to be put into a bridge along the new line of the Waynesburg and Blacksville Street Railway company.

When the steel girders reached Washington it was found that they were so long that it would require three cars on the narrow gauge to haul them to Waynesburg. This would make it impossible for a train to round the numerous horseshoe curves on the line

Finally special narrow gauge trucks were brought out from Pittsburg and placed under the cars which had brought the girders to Washington. The girders will be taken into Greene county in this manner it being probably the first time in the history of the Waynesburg & Washington line that a car of the standard size has been taken over the road.

Before the girders can be taken to the point where the bridge is to be built it will be necessary to construct about 150 yards of railway on which to move them

NEGLECTED OPPORTUNITIES.

You appreciate the loss of great opportunities neglected. It is very easy to point out to others what the answered knock at the door of life means to the neglectful. But how about yourself? Shakespeare says:

Who seeks, and will not take when once 'tis offered,
Shall never find it more.

Are you reading enough these days? Whether you are 16 or 66, you should read. The value of the well-stocked mind is clearly shown in your conversation, your writing and in the interpretation that you make of other persons' thoughts and actions. You can never read too much. Think of the golden harvest in the silver days, when your memory will be your companion, renewing delightful moments. Prepare for life's winter. Read.

Sometimes one little verse, one forceful sentence, one short story, holds in the depths a life unit. In the gem is "all the wonder and wealth of the mine." Who knows but that a gem is here before you? Seek for the worth-while subject. You will find it. So let no opportunity to read pass you. Look at this page and listen to the experience, the thoughts, the dreams of others. Every moment spent with us will pay you tenfold in the future.

THE MORAL SIDE.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal Company has announced that hereafter it would repair damage done by its mine cave-ins.

[illegible] the company purposes to rob pillars it will notify the surface residents to move out and supply them with a temporary home. When the coal is taken out and the surface has settled the houses that are caused to topple will be set plumb and any damages to the building repaired. Depressions in the lot will be also be filled up. The company also notified the city that it will repair homes damaged by caves.

According to the leases covering most of the home sites the coal companies can take out the last pound of coal without liability for damage to surface properties. The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western is the first to recognize the moral right to the surface owner to be compensated for damages resulting from cave-ins.

And leaves the rest;
Then do not worry.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

When the Eldora Park management was making arrangements for entertaining the newspaper men of the valley and interior parts of the county at a supper tonight, it was concluded groundhog meat would put a relish to things. Accordingly Roy S. Sharpnack, the assistant manager sent to Greene county for several of the little weather prophets. His instructions were to have them shipped here ready to be put in cold storage.

When the groundhogs arrived Mr. Sharpnack was notified by the railroad people here. He sent up a boy from the park to get them with instructions to take them to North Charleroi to put them on cold storage at the Valley Crystal Ice and Storage company.

The boy came to the baggage room and asked about the groundhogs. Then all excited he ran to a telephone booth, and called up Sharpnack.

"Say, Roy," he yelled, "This baggage man says you'd better get some corn and water for these groundhogs, instead of puttin' them on cold storage."

E. F. Krahmer, the local P. R. R. agent took a guest of the Krahmers, a tot of about six years, to the Palace Theatre Monday night. One of the pictures shown was of Pisa, the famed Italian city. She was wonderfully impressed with the scenes. Particularly did the splendor of the cathedral appear to her. When a picture was shown of the interior of the beautiful old piece of architecture exhibiting its wonderful grandeur, she could hardly contain herself:

"Oh, isn't that grand!" she exclaimed. "And, oh, Ed., is that as pretty as your office?"

A wedding party was disturbed by the crying of a baby belonging to one of the women guests. One of the young ladies present remarked to the bridesmaid:

"What a nuisance babies are at a wedding!"

"I should say so," returned the latter and added, without very full consideration:

"When I send out the invitations to my wedding I shall have printed in the corner, 'No babies expected.'"

ODD WAYS OF THE COMMONS

Illustrated by the Imminent Peril of Mr. Pearce, Who Read Newspaper During Session.

A member of the British parliament remarks in London Opinion that the rules of the house of commons are past all understanding, and then proceeds to cite the case of Mr. Pearce, M. P., and the imminent danger in which he one day appeared to be. This was when the sergeant-at-arms, with his terrible sword in hand, rose from his chair and rushed with cyclonic speed in the direction of the mild, meek and altogether unconscious offense member. It was quickly made clear what was the cause of this hasty saber charge by the sergeant. Mr. Pearce had actually been reading a newspaper, and there is no more heinous offense known to parliament. The members when in the chamber are not permitted to read newspapers for any purpose not immediately connected with the debate actually in progress, though one may succeed in doing it surreptitiously by folding the newspaper small and concealing it behind the order paper of the day, much like a boy may nibble at an apple in school, concealing the pippin behind his spelling book. Yet more gross breaches of parliamentary etiquette and decorum may be seen, members even wearing their hats when a fellow member is addressing the house, and even the dearest friends of an orator may go to sleep while he is delivering his choicest periods.

Heaven Here.

When I was away for my holiday, I went once to the side of a little highland loch on a calm day, when all the winds were still, and every birch tree stood unmoved, and every twig reflected on the steadfast mirror, into the depths of which heaven's own blue seemed to have found its way. That is what our hearts may be, if we let Christ put his guarding hand round them to keep the storms off, and have him within us for our rest. But the man who does not trust Jesus is like the troubled sea which cannot rest, but goes moaning around half the world, homeless and hungry, rolling and heaving, monotonous and yet changeful, salt and barren, the true emblem of every soul that has not listened to the merciful call: "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."—Doctor Maclaren.

MYSTERY IN THE FRITZ SHOOTING AT CANONSBURG

Considerable mystery surrounds the shooting of Elmer Fritz, a well known resident of Canonsburg and a former ball player, at Canonsburg Monday. Fritz is now in the Washington hospital. His wife is under arrest charged by the young man's father with the shooting. Yet both the injured man and the woman claim that the shooting occurred while he was playing with a revolver.

According to the first story Fritz and his wife had a quarrel about some beer being brought into the house. She secured a revolver, it was stated, and shot him. Now both Fritz and wife state the quarrel was not at their house but at the home of a brother of Fritz, who lived nearby, and who had an argument with his wife. The injured man made a statement which his wife affirms is a true presentation of the facts. He says he was seated at a table on which the revolver was lying. He went to pick up the weapon when it was in some manner discharged.

Fritz is seriously though not necessarily fatally wounded. The bullet lodged in his abdomen. About three years ago, Barney Fritz, a brother of Elmer was shot while he and his brother were examining a revolver. His wound was serious but did not prove fatal.

TO COLLECT FROM MANY DELINQUENTS

County Treasurer Samuel Downer reports that nearly 300 persons against whom mercantile taxes were assessed are delinquent in payment. He has placed the collection of all delinquent taxes in the hands of justices of the peace of Washington county, who will send out constables to each individual taxpayer to give notice of their delinquency, and the delinquents will be obliged to pay, besides the taxes, the justices' and constables' costs. In many instances it is stated, the costs will exceed taxes. Constables who in past years have collected delinquent mercantile taxes, report that in many instances it was impossible to find the person owing it.

Taken to Hospital.

Justice of the Peace E. E. Rice was removed to the Monessen-Charleroi hospital at North Charleroi this morning suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Interested in American System.

While visiting Vienna recently, the ex-shah of Persia, Mahomet Ali, devoted much time to the inspection of great business and manufacturing establishments, and on one of these tours, made under the guidance of a large manufacturer, and with little Prince Mahomet Mirza, they were joined at the office of a newspaper by an American with whom the ex-monarch entered into earnest conversation. He was deeply interested in what the American told him about commercial affairs in the United States, but what interested him most, said one of the party, was "our election system, as to which he made searching inquiry."

Like a Dream to Her.

Margaret Andoux, the Paris dressmaker, whose book has attracted the attention of great scholars all over the world, worked at her trade for the sum of 60 cents a day. She left the country and went to Paris with but a few cents in her pocket, and considered herself lucky to have arrived at the dignity of something over half a dollar a day wage. Her book, "Marie Claire," made her several thousand dollars, and now the poor dressmaker may rest from her labors for awhile.

For Poor Actresses.

Baronne Koenigwater of Frankfort, formerly a distinguished actress of Vienna, has just set aside a fund of $5,000, the income of which is to provide poor actresses with necessary stage clothes, the lack of which often hinders their career. Other people are being asked to join in this work.

She Was Not Surprised.

"Weren't you sorry when you heard that Tolstoi was dead?" asked Mrs. Oldcastle. "Yes," replied her hostess, as she pushed a $900 bracelet up on her left arm, "but it was not at all surprisin'. Folks that go up in them things are always sure to get a fall sooner or later."

The Model Hired Girl.

The following testimonial was given to a servant girl: "This is to certify that the bearer has been in my service one year less 11 months. During this time I found her to be diligent at the back door, temperate at her work, prompt at excuses, amiable toward young men, faithful to her sweethearts and honest when everything was safe under lock and key."

BARS OUT RUSSIAN GEESE

Germany's Blow to a Great Trade Seriously Felt on Both Sides of Border.

Announcement has been made that the German authorities have suspended the importation of live geese from Russia on the ground that there is a considerable amount of disease prevalent in the frontier districts of that country.

Coming, as this prohibition does, immediately prior to the period when imports of live geese increase rapidly the question is serious alike to breeders in Russia, who will have large quantities of birds thrown on their hands; to German goose fatteners, as they will be unable to fill up their pens, for the home production is totally insufficient to meet their requirements, and to housewives in Germany, who will find the already high price of what is an important article of food advance still further and probably be prohibitive. Russians state that there is no justification for this regulation, that it is a trade move in the interests of German dealers to force down prices and as a measure of fiscal protection to German breeders.

Germany imports annually about 8,000,000 live geese of which seven-eighths come from Russia, where these birds are bred in vast numbers throughout the western and southwestern governments. They are bought from the raisers by traveling dealers, who drive them in huge flocks to the frontier stations, where they are entrained for despatch to Berlin and other cities.

The cars used for this purpose are built in four decks, each car holding about 1,200 birds. Special trains are run in the season, consisting of a dozen to thirty-five cars, in accordance with the supply. As many as 50,000 geese have been known to arrive at Magerviehhof market, Berlin, on a single day.—Westminster Gazette.

Tree Made Lot Valuable.

"Not long ago," says Fred A. Manchester, one of Cleveland's best known real estate men, "I had an assignment to sell a certain number of lots in a new Cleveland allotment.

"In this allotment there was exactly one tree. The lots ranged in price from $250 to $490, but for the lot on which was located this particular tree the price was $500. And do you know that this one little tree made this one little lot more valuable by far than any of the rest? Folks would hesitate about paying $250 for a pretty little lot on a side street, but nobody objected when asked to pay $500 for this lot away out of the ordinary run of travel, simply because there was a big shade tree in the back yard."—Cleveland Leader.

Pleasant Praise.

A local painter spent three months on a painting. He spent a good deal of money on models, but the finished product justified all his expenditures and all his time. Everybody told him so, when his picture was exhibited. Everybody but one. The lady whose opinion he valued most was the one he took to the exhibition with him. "I can hardly wait," she bubbled. "Which is your picture?" "This one," he told her—and waited. She studied it critically. "What is it called?" she wanted to know. "'Wood Nymphs.'" "How silly of me to ask! They're so natural. Why, anybody would think they were really made of wood!"—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

Foxes Made Bold by Hunger.

Foxes seem to be unusually plentiful in the Blackmore vale this year and several instances of their remarkable boldness have occurred of late. A few days ago Reynard had the hardihood actually to pay a visit to the kennels at Charlton Horethorne, a village in a sheltered valley, in broad daylight, between the Sherborne and Wincanton, and carry off a much prized cock belonging to the hunts man. Apparently the marauder had been lying up in a hedgerow close to the poultry yard and his tracks were easily traced in the muddy lane by which he safely beat his retreat with his capture.—London Standard.

Maine Nature Fakers.

Maine is a great state for "nature fakers." The Kennebec Journal puts out the following: "Obed F. Stackpole of Biddeford discovered on entering his henhouse a few mornings ago that a fine black hen of his flock had committed suicide. He found the hen hanging suspended by her neck, and her head slipped through a loop in a cord, which was attached overhead in the center of the coop. The cord which figured in the event was one by means of which Mr. Stackpole had previously suspended a cabbage just above the floor and a small loop was left in the end to which the stump of the cabbage had been fastened."

An Ancient Bet.

Near the ancient country seat of the Carews in Cornwall, England, stands a quaint old church, to the door of which are nailed four horse shoes. These have been in their present position for nearly 500 years. A former member of the Carew family made a wager with a friend that he would ride his horse a mile out to sea in Tor bay and back again. The fact was more difficult than appears at first sight, for the cross-currents are dangerous, even for boats.

He won the bet, however, and nailed the four horse shoes of his steed to the church door to commemorate the performance.

FIVE DAYS OF CLASSY RACING

Grand Circuit Trotters and Pacers Coming to Pittsburgh

WORLD'S BEST ARE ENTERED

Pittsburgh Driving Club Revives Harness Racing With a Great Program. Meet Begins on Monday, Aug. 5, and Ends on Friday, Aug. 9—Big Purses Offered and Famous Drivers Will Compete.

For the first time in nearly twenty years lovers of harness racing in Pittsburgh and vicinity will have an opportunity to see the world's greatest trotters and pacers in action without leaving home. Back in the old days, when Homewood park was in existence, Pittsburgh was one of the greatest racing cities of the country and gave annual meetings that were unsurpassed. But since the last meeting at Homewood, which was held in 1893, followers of the great American sport of harness racing have been forced to journey to other states to see the leading horses perform. This year Pittsburgh returns to the Grand Circuit with five days of racing beginning on Monday, Aug. 5, and to celebrate her return is offering one of the greatest racing programs ever given by a racing association.

Realizing that in order to give a successful meeting in Pittsburgh it will be necessary to offer inducements to owners and trainers to enter their horses, the Pittsburgh Driving club outlined at the start the most liberal racing card of the season and the support given the meeting surpassed the expectations of the most enthusiastic member of the club and assured the greatest week of racing of the season.

Unlike the majority of the racing associations, the Pittsburgh club has decided to make Monday the opening day, one of the most attractive, if not the very best day of the week. Five races are slated for that day, the real feature being the $10,000 Matron stake for three-year-old trotters, a race that will bring together for the first time this season all the crack three-year-old trotters of the country. Judging from the reports being received from the various training grounds, the three-year-old trotters are showing phenomenal speed and it is the general opinion that 1912 will bring forth more high-class colt trotters than any previous year in the history of the turf. The Matron stake will witness the first test of their racing ability and it would not surprise horsemen to see the world's record for three-year-olds in a race go glimmering when the colts meet in this event. This race being of national importance, it will bring to Pittsburgh every prominent breeder and owner in the country, the majority being represented by one or more colts in the list now eligible.

In addition to the Matron stake the card for the opening day includes two preliminary races of the Professional Drivers' stake for 2:15 trotters, to which race nearly sixty trotters are eligible. Every stake trotter in the country eligible to the 2:15 trot has been kept good in this stake and the purse will be, next to the Matron, the richest of the meeting. It is the consensus of opinion that the preliminaries and the final of this stake will develop into the greatest series of races ever trotted, for in addition to the money to be divided among the winning horses there will be a surplus for the winning drivers and that means that every man will be out with "blood in his eye" fighting for the money. With the 2:05 pace, one of the fastest classes of the meeting, and the 2:22 trot, which will bring out the best of the slower class trotters, the opening day at Pittsburgh will produce one of the greatest days of sport ever offered lovers of harness racing.

The card for Tuesday, Aug. 6, has for its feature the Fort Pitt, 2:13 pace, the classic pacing race of the meeting. In this event will start all the best stake pacers of the season and should develop into one of the greatest fought battles of the year. In this race all the pacers that start for the old-established C. of C. stake at Detroit are entered and will meet for the first time the faster of the stake pacers from the east.

Another feature of the day is the Preparation stake for two-year-old trotters, a race that has developed into one of the most interesting of the meeting, owing to the number of sensationally fast colt trotters that have appeared to date. In this race at least two babies owned by local horsemen will start and judging by their work to date they will be among the leaders. To complete the card there is a 2:08 trot, the fastest of the class races offered, and a 2:12 pace.

The card for Wednesday, Aug. 7, includes the richest stake of the meeting for aged trotters, the Pennsylvania 2:10 trot, $5,000. Thirty-two horses are still eligible to start, and unquestionably the field will be one of the largest that ever battled for so rich a purse. Every great trotter in the country is entered, every great driver has one or more in the race, and if the contest is not one of the greatest ever witnessed on a race track then the officials of the club will be extremely disappointed. Another stake programmed for that day which should produce a sterling contest is the Iron City 2:07 pace, in which the fastest of the stake pacers are named, no less than twenty-five horses having been entered. In this race it is expected that the horses will have to pace miles not far from two minutes in order to win. The pacing division of the Matron stake and a class for 2:15 trotters completes that day's racing.

Thursday, which is usually counted on as the "big day" of a race meeting, but which at Pittsburgh is but one of the five big days, has two features that would make any day's racing worth a journey of miles to see. The first is the final of the Professional Drivers' stake, in which the leading reinsmen will meet to battle for the first stake ever offered in which they have a chance to increase their own earning capacity. The second is the Trotting championship, a $2,500 stake for free-for-all trotters, a race in which is named every trotter in the country with a record below 2:07 that will be raced in 1912. In this race will meet for the first time two aspirants for the championship stallion crown, Billy Burke, 2:03¾, and Colorado E., 2:04¾, and even if but these two horses face the starter it would be one of the greatest races ever trotted and there is a chance that in this race the world's record for racing stallions will be set at a new mark. But in addition there are named such horses as Anvil, 2:06½; Dudie Archdale, 2:06¼, both in the stable of Ed. Geers; Hallworthy, 2:05¼; Brace Girdle, 2:05¼; R. T. C., 2:06¾; Gold Dollar, 2:06¼, and others, unquestionably the greatest field of trotters ever entered in one race. To complete Thursday's program there is a 2:09 pace and a 2:12 trot.

Friday, Aug. 9, the last day of the meeting, has, for its feature the Pacing championship, a free-for-all pace in which is entered the greatest muster of peerless pacers on the continent. There are no less than fourteen entries, including Ross K., 2:01½; Evelyn W., 2:01¾; Independence Boy, 2:01½; Vernon McKinney, 2:02; The Eel, 2:02¼; Don Delmore, 2:03¼; Sir R., 2:03½; Major Mallow, 2:03¾; Hal B., Jr., 2:03; Merry Widow, 2:03¾, etc. The clip these pacers will set means that all race records for pacers will be beaten. Three other races will be decided on Friday.

VERNON M'KINNEY, 2:02.

The favorite for the Free-for-all Pace.

Comparing the program with that offered by other Grand Circuit associations shows that Pittsburgh's effort to promote a meeting has been done on a plane of which the city may be proud. No other track in the circuit has offered so much money for a meeting of one week and horsemen have shown their appreciation by giving the meeting the greatest list of entries of the season. Pittsburgh is on the racing map to stay.

The complete program for the week is as follows:

Monday, Aug. 5—2:22 Trot, 3 in 5, $1,000; Professional Drivers' stake, 2:15 trot, preliminary, 2 in 3, $5,000; Professional Drivers' stake, 2:15 trot, preliminary, 2 in 3, $5,000; the Matron stake, trotting division, 3-year-olds, 2 in 3, $10,000; 2:05 Pace, 2 in 3, $1,200.

Tuesday, Aug. 6—2:12 Pace, 3 in 5, $1,000; the Fort Pitt, 2:13 pace, 3 in 5, $2,500; the Preparation, 2-year-olds, 2 in 3, $2,000; 2:08 trot, 2 in 3, $1,200.

Wednesday, Aug. 7—2:16 Trot, 3 in 5, $1,000; the Pennsylvania, 2:10 trot, 3 in 5, $5,000; the Iron City, 2:07 pace, 2 in 3, $2,500; the Matron stake, pacing division, 3-year-olds, 2 in 3, $2,500.

Thursday, Aug. 8—2:09 Pace, 3 in 5, $1,000; Professional Drivers' stake, 2:15 trot, final, 2 in 3, $5,000; the Trotting Championship, free-for-all trot, 2 in 3, $2,500; 2:12 Trot, 3 in 5, $1,000.

Friday, Aug. 9—2:18 Trot, 3 in 5, $1,000; the Pacing Championship, free-for-all pace, 2 in 3, $2,000; 2:15 Pace, 3 in 5, $1,000; 2:20 Pace, 3 in 5, $1,000.

TO PROTECT WATER BUCKETS

Stable Boys Bore Holes in Their Bottoms and Carry Corks in Their Pockets.

"Anybody who has occasion to use a water bucket," said a man acquainted with their various uses, "is likely to pick up the first one he comes to, then he may put it back where he found it or he may not.

"It was to prevent their being carried off in this way and left around where they didn't belong that fire buckets came to be made with round bottoms, so that they wouldn't stand on their own bottom. Such buckets, as you know, are kept filled with water and standing around in buildings, supported in holders having rounded out spaces in which the buckets rest. These buckets are likely to be left where they belong.

"A man who doesn't know their peculiarity may come along some day and pick up one of them and carry it off, but he is likely to leave the fire buckets alone after one experience of seeing the bucket he has carried off roll over when he set it down and spill out all the water.

"Perhaps you don't know what stable boys do to keep their buckets where they can find them. The stable boy protects his particular bucket by boring a hole in its bottom, so that it won't hold water; nobody wants a bucket that won't hold water. Then he carries in his pocket a cork that will fit the hole in the bucket, and when he has use for it he simply plugs the hole, and there's the bucket ready for use.

"To be sure other boys around a stable may carry corks in their pockets, but the run of people don't; and so the boy who has bored the bottom of his bucket is at least a little more likely to find it when he wants it than he would be if it had no hole in it."

CIGAR SMOKING IN GERMANY

Business Is Increasing as Kaiser's Subjects Realize Pipe Is Unhandy to Carry.

Mr. A. von Reiger, president of the town council of Dresden, Germany, who is at the Ebbitt, is also a manufacturer of cigars.

"The cigar business in Germany is on the increase," said he. "In my factory if I do not turn out 250,000 a day I consider business very poor. Germans, long famed for their variety and quality of pipes, are taking to cigars. In former days a German was always pictured with a stein of beer and a big curved-stemmed pipe. Now the cigar has taken the latter's place.

"The main reason for the change is the fact that pipes are unhandy to carry around. They take up a lot of space in one's pocket, and a packet of tobacco takes up some more. Germans are outdoor people, and the cigarette is too mild for them. A man who is in the open all the time likes a strong smoke, and the more he is out of doors the stronger he wants it. Cigars can be carried easily, and they give even more satisfaction than the pipe. Hence the change.

"My," he continued, "but your American prices are high! No wonder a man is not considered rich unless he is the possessor of $1,000,000. Why, in Germany if a man has 1,000,000 marks, which is something more than $200,000 in American money, he is considered phenomenally rich. It is a shame we can't ship foodstuffs across the ocean to you without paying duty."—Washington Post.

Best He Could Do.

When Ralph Delmore, who was assisting in staging "The Confession," was giving instructions one day to the actors as to what they should wear during the snow storm in the first act, he said: "I want every one to wear their heaviest overcoats during this scene, as it is supposed to be the coldest night in twenty years. Now, don't forget this." Mr. Delmore repeated this order several times to impress it on the minds of the actors, when one of them, undoubtedly new to the stage and who had no lines at all to speak, approached him. "I have no overcoat, Mr. Delmore, but suppose I wear my heavy flannel underwear!"—Kansas City Star.

Superior Paper.

As illustrating the excellence of the paper (which is made from unused linen scraps) upon which Bank of England notes are printed, it is stated that when one of these notes is twisted into a rope it will sustain a weight of 363 pounds.

Sermon by the Deacon.

"Girls whose grandmothers used to get outdoors and boil a big iron kettle full of maple syrup or soft soap," says Deacon Palmer, "think they are doing something when they can roast a marshmallow in a chafing dish."—Atlanta Constitution.

Sculptor Receives Decoration.

Albert Jaegers, the sculptor of the Baron von Steuben statue, which was recently presented by the United States to Germany, has been decorated with the Order of the Eagle, fourth class, in recognition of his merit. He was born in Elberfield, Germany, in 1868, obtaining his education in the public schools. Without wealth or influential friends he worked away in the face of many discouraging features, until, self-taught in art, he arrived at the point where his creations commanded recognition. He came to this country several years ago to make his home, and he has an attractive place at Suffern, New York.

TAME GULLS OF SHETLAND

Each Family in Lerwick Has Its Own Flock Which the Children Feed.

There are many small villages in the world that have only one street; but Lerwick, in Shetland, besides having only a single street possesses only one tree, and it is not a very tall one either. There are no land birds there, not even a sparrow; but the sea gulls are plentiful.

The inhabitants of Shetland are very proud of their tree and very kind to the gulls, of whom the children make pets. Children who are brought for the first time to see the wonders of one-streeted Lerwick are always shown, as a great curiosity, "the only tree in Shetland."

The sea gulls are the sparrows of Lerwick; and as such they have a greater share in the town's life than the sparrows of London. In the morning you will note that a sea gull sits on every chimney pot. Sea gulls swoop and hover over every roof in town. The air is full of their strange, high, plaintive, haunting cries.

Every house has its own familiar sea gulls and every street its own band of them. But, according to the Fruit Magazine, they never mix. The children in each house have a pet name for their own particular sea gulls; and, having called them by those names, they feed them every day.

Each sea gull knows what is meant for him. No bird attached to one house ever seeks to eat the food scattered from the house next door. He does not dare to do so. So all day long the sea gulls hover and call over the roofs of Lerwick.

The people of the town if they come across a little pile of rice laid upon the roadway step over it with care. They know that it has been placed there for some sea gull. And at night the sea gulls leave their appointed chimney-pots and fly gracefully away to their resting places on the rocks of the Isle of Noss.

More Light.

Fresh air enthusiasts are familiar enough to most of us, but we hear less of enthusiasm for light. Darkened parlors, darkened bedrooms, darkened sickrooms, are too common. Sir B. W. Richardson, the eminent London scientist and physician, declared that when the professors of healing enter a sickroom their first words in most cases ought to be Goethe's dying exclamation, "More light! More light!" The light of the sun is God's own microbe killer, germicide, disinfectant, prophylactic, sickness healer. There is no physician, no chemical antidote, no compounded prescription to be compared with sunlight. Without it nature could not perform her functions. Man, beast, bird, insect would fall victims to the deadly gases that would prevail. The horrid mists and deadly gases are dispersed and decomposed by the action of light. Let it in, everywhere! Let the light in more and more abundantly. Faded carpets are not as pitiful as faded cheeks. Spoiled cushions are trivial compared with spoiled health. Darkened rooms are too suggestive of darkened lives.—The Christian Herald.

Real Angel of Death.

Most of us are familiar with the beautiful and artistic conception of French, wherein a young sculptor who is plying his magic chisel upon a block of stone and summoning from the snowy depths of the marble the dream face of his soul's idea, is gently touched by the wistful-eyed Angel of Death and the skillful arm forever stayed. The whole creation is marvelously beautiful and the world is better for its birth. Nevertheless, it is allegorical and misleading.

The real Angel of Death in the case of the thin-faced sculptor was not a sad-visaged maiden of classical profile. In all probability it was a minute, rod-like organism floating amid motes of dust and known to scientists as the "bacteria tuberculosis." The writer does not want to be a shatterer of ideals, but the sooner such poetic notions of death are done away with and the mass of the people educated in a common sense way to the dangers of dust and bacteria, the better it will be for humanity in general.—J. G. Ogden in October Popular Mechanics.

Truth in a Nutshell.

As Puck said, "What fools these mortals be!" If there were no fools there would be no rogues, just as if there was no filth there would be no flies, and if there were no swamps there would be no mosquitoes.

Girl Student Wins Competition.

Miss Louise Stanwood, a special student in Radcliffe college, has won in the play competition of the Harvard Dramatic club. Miss Stanwood's play, "The Progress of Mrs. Alexander," has been accepted by the club and will be presented in December. The competition was open to both Harvard and Radcliffe students. The Emmanuel Society of Radcliffe gave three representations of "Cyrano de Bergerac" last month for the benefit of the scholarship fund. Each year this society raises the money for one tuition and something toward a permanent scholarship fund. There is still lacking $5,000 to make up the permanent fund.

A Physician's Report on Tuberculosis Medicine

"Have used Eckman's Alterative in several cases of tubercular glands of the neck, with excellent results every time. In one case it cost me $50, for the girl was put on it only until she could arrange to be operated, and in a short time an operation was not needed. I suppose your records are just as fine as of old. You know my faith in it."

Eckman's Alterative is effective in other forms. Read what Mrs. Garvin says:

Idaho Falls, Idaho.

"Gentlemen: I have gained twenty-two pounds since last February and my baby is in perfect health. She is now four months old. I have been waiting since she was born to see how I would get along. I am now doing all my work, have been ever since she was four weeks old, and I am steadily gaining. I do not cough or raise anything at all. I believe my lung trouble is cured."

(Signed Affidavit) MRS. M. H. GARVIN.

Note—Mrs. Garvin is the mother of seven children.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. FACTS AND FICTION

Experiences of Charleroi People Are Easily Proven to be Facts.

The most superficial investigation will prove that the following statement from a resident of Charleroi is true. Read it and compare evidence of many of strangers living so far away you cannot investigate the facts of the case. Many more citizens of Charleroi will endorse Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. William McBridge, 508 Lincoln avenue, Charleroi Pa., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in our family for several years. Our first experience with them took place while we were living in Beaver Falls and a member of our family was at that time suffering from dull pains in the small of the back, and other symptoms of kidney trouble. They proved of great benefit and there was no return attack of the trouble for some time. About a month ago Doan's Kidney Pills were procured at Piper Bros.' Drug Store and they proved as beneficial as before. Judging from our experience with Doan's Kidney Pills, I do not hesitate to recommend them."

The Wind and the Weather.

Weather depends on the direction and movement of wind. Warmth comes from the sun, but wind is the distributer of the warmth. Visiting any place that is warmer than itself, wind always takes some of the warmth away with it. Visiting any place that is colder than itself, wind warms that place. This implies, of course, that wind moves. But what makes it move? It moves by its own weight. Wind is simply drifting air, and the drift is caused by the very same power which draws a falling stone toward the earth.

POWDER FLASHES CAUSES BLINDNESS

O. C Kough, a photographer of Uniontown, will lose the sight of both eyes as the result of a blinding flash in the face as he was about to take a flashlight photograph of the local lodge of Order of Lions in Rutter Hall Monday night. When the members had posed Kough pressed the bulb, but there was no flash. He walked to the pan of flash powder and looked into it, when there was a sudden flash of powder in his face.

PRESBYS NOW IN SECOND

Lost to Episcopals and Leave Catholics in First Place

HARD HITTING FEATURE

Through the instrumentality of nine sluggers doing their derndest under the banner of Episcopal, the First Presbyterians dropped to second place Monday night, leaving the Catholics in full and complete possession of the much coveted first position. The score when "finis" was declared was 5 to 1. Osborne undertook to fool the Episcopals but McCloskey's lads stoutly and persistently refused to be fooled. Katsy Keifer who pulled off a startling performance last week by pitching a no-hit game started the game for the Episcopals, but retired from the mound after a time to practice up on third base a bit and let W Cratty be the center of agitation. Between Katsy and the said W. C. they made a good job of it. Six hits was the number the other side got.

In the first place the Episcopals played errorless ball. It took four hits for the First Presbyterians to score one and their only run in the first In the second place they hit like men who prophesied Taft's nomination before the convention—consistently and often. One run was scored in the first inning on 2 hits, one in the third on the same number and three in the fifth on four bingles. Score:

EXEMPLIFICATIONS OF RECORD IN TWO CASES ARE RECEIVED

The exemplifications of record have been received from the prothonotary of the superior court in the two cases recently decided by the appellate court.

As to the suit of Conrad Hilt against Catherine Hilt, the latter now being deceased, the higher court reversed the lower court and directed that the judgment be entered in favor of the defendant.

The record in the Borough of California vs. Powell estate has also been received. This suit was affirmed and involved the question of the right of the borough to collect for certain paving on Third street, California, and the lower court found for the defendant. It was found the borough in paving under the two-thirds plan, had not complied fully with the act of assembly. Other suits depended on the outcome of this action.
